BA in Action
In our Overview, we offered a glimpse into the growth and development of the Bibliotheca Alexandrina (BA) as catered to by a outstanding and dedicated staff. Here, in the BA in Action we shall elaborate on the myriad of activities conducted by the BA throughout the reported year.

The BA has been working passionately to reach out to a diverse set of target groups, turning potential into power. The Library focuses on Alexandria and Egypt; reaching from there to the Mediterranean, the Arab world, Africa, and the rest of the world. To maintain such a high-standard and determined level of exposure, the physical entity of the BA is spreading its roots in places other than that attractive spot on the Mediterranean Sea. Our open Plaza has a branch of the Diwan bookstore, and has four cafeterias creating a lively atmosphere on the Plaza. We are in the process of launching our own FM cultural station. As stated in our Overview, we are expanding east and west of Alexandria, besides the plots of land in the 6th of October and in the Family Park in Cairo.

The Library Sector’s outreach program remains active and community-oriented. Most of our educational outreach activities this past year were focused on the community in Alexandria and elsewhere in Egypt, with the aim of approaching a wider public. Orientation sessions and information literacy services were regularly provided for the BA patrons, in addition to projects such as the Big Read Egypt/US book discussions, film screening sessions, animation workshops and contests.

Since summer 2009, new hands-on activity programs are offered, at both the Children’s Library and the Young People’s Library to promote better literacy, intellectual, cognitive, computer, and social skills.

Many in-house training courses were conducted to elevate librarian performance and skills through the Continuing Education program. The Library Sector has also established an International Librarianship Program in which eight Bahraini librarians were offered intensive training, during October 2009.

While the digital age has posed many challenges, it has provided mechanisms by which the BA can reach out to children with special needs, including those who suffer from learning, intellectual or developmental disabilities. The Digital Talking Book studio was installed according to DAISY (Digital Accessible Information System) standards for audio book recording and produces 25 DAISY audio books (including the Holy Quran).

The Book Mobile outreach program continued to visit schools. The summer programs for the general public and Alexandria’s elementary schools included a variety of activities such as research skill courses, fun-with-science workshops, story-telling and puppet-shows, book-talks and reading competitions, computer classes, art and craft activities, animation workshops, Arabic calligraphy courses, and hieroglyphics workshops.

An art appreciation program was created to familiarize children with art and introduce them to famous artists and different schools: impressionism, romanticism, surrealism, realism and so forth.

Bibliotheca Alexandrina
Equal to the scope of library services and collections is the significant breadth and generosity of the library’s support from individuals as well as corporations. During the reported period we have been receiving in-kind valuable donations, the latest of which was 5,000 volumes including AV material and children books, from the British Council.

Through the External Relations Sector, the BA also received book donations from several organizations and countries; such as Dubai, Spain, China, Oman, Azerbaijan and the University of Sultan Qaboos; a replica of the Koran Ruzbehan; and a replica of the manuscript of Qasidet Al-Burda (Poem of the Mantle) by Al-Busiri from Iraq.

Our Arts School gives children a forum to explore their thoughts, experiences, and who they are, in a group of peers. It strives to develop not only on-stage skills, but also self-confidence, self-awareness and creativity. A wide range of activities was offered throughout the past year including recitals, concerts, performances, workshops, and exhibitions.

The Academic and Cultural Sector continues its activities promoting culture. As part of the Franco-Egyptian 2010 Year for Science and Technology, the Inter-academic Group for Development (GID) organized the 3rd Mediterranean Scientific Conference GID - Parmenides, which took place at the BA, 21–24 June 2010. The theme of the conference focused on “Mediterranean Wealth and Diversity; Biology and Culture”. The Euro Mediterranean Academic Network (EMAN) and the Mediterranean Academic Programme (Parmenides) were among the participants.

The BA was also represented in the 2nd Mediterranean Scientific Conference GID - Parmenides in Rome, 12–14 October 2009, hosted by the Italian Accademia dei Lincei under the theme “Science and Health in the Mediterranean Countries: genes, pathogens and the environment”.

Through its regular monthly events, our Arts Center welcomed high-profile Egyptian and international contemporary arts from all backgrounds, who came for residencies and performances to create an energetic exchange of experience.

In April 2010, we inaugurated a new pathway where all our exhibitions and museums can be accessed from the Main Lobby stairway, from the Conference Center or from the entrance to the Planetarium, thus providing our visitors with a new experience whereby they transition from one gallery to the next. This was one of the many major achievements made in this past year, thanks to the efforts of our Engineering Department.

Seeking to preserve the past and promote the future development of the city of Alexandria, our Alexandria and Mediterranean Research Center (Alex-Med) has—among its varied activities—compiled and archived data and information covering all development sectors of the Governorate of Alexandria such as economy, electricity, education, environment, healthcare and agriculture with the aim of establishing the Alexandria database.
Alex-Med is also working on its ongoing ambitious project to document the history of the cisterns of Alexandria and to analyze their condition in order to submit a proposal for developing them and setting guidelines for their conservation. The Glass Negatives project is meant to document 4817 glass negatives in a digital form. These are photographic plates that preceded photographic film and depict the architectural, urban, and social life and antiquity of Alexandria during that period.

The Calligraphy Center continues its scientific research studies documenting the history of writings, calligraphies and inscriptions within Egypt and beyond. A number of relevant conferences, seminars, workshops and exhibitions were organized during the reported, (see Calendar of Events).

The GIS Unit of our Cairo-based Center for Documentation for Culture and Natural Heritage (CultNat) has made substantial progress in the Archeological Map of Egypt (CultMap) at its first level of information (the National Level). The map employs multimedia in conjunction with GIS technologies to produce a powerful documentation and management tool for the Egyptian archeological sites. CultMob is a mobile version of CultMap. The application contains a list of archeological sites divided according to different governorates of Egypt, allowing users to navigate through them.

The past year has seen the launch of the Memory of the Arab World portal website www.memoryarabworld.net and the collection of heritage content from 19 Arab countries. A guide book was published for the institutions working on the documentation process. Two bibliographies about architectural heritage and manuscript heritage were published. Two documentary movies were produced: the first about the project and the second about common Arab heritage, such as pottery.

The Documentation of the Arabic Periodicals Archive of the National Library of Egypt is now complete. CultNat has also completed the documentation of the National Library of Egypt’s huge map collection amounting to over 10,000 maps, dating to different historic periods and covering a wide range of subjects.

Another key project adopted by CultNat is the Architectural and Urban Heritage Program to document the 19th and 20th century architectural heritage of Egypt. During this past year, CultNat has developed a collective GIS for the architecture and urban heritage of Cairo, and established an Egyptian Committee for the Vieilles Maisons Francaises Association promoting the preservation of French Heritage in the world.

In June 2009, CultNat began an ambitious 6-year project in cooperation with the Ministry of Agriculture to document Egypt’s wealth of botanical gardens. So far, two databases have been created for the Orman Gardens and the collections of the Ancient Egyptian Agricultural Museum; a geographical Information System for the Orman Gardens and a documentary film on AlZahraa horse breeds.

The first version of the Islamic Cairo Heritage GIS was developed and launched at CultNat’s micro gallery of projects.

Recently, CultNat’s Lab has successfully designed and developed websites and applications for a number of projects including the Egyptian Red Crescent website, Abdeen Palace application, and the EU project Authentico website, the Association of Egypt Heritage website.

The Egyptian Folklore program continues to gather data about the Egyptian Folklore to document in a database compilation process, different aspects of the old traditional daily life that are about to become extinct all over Egypt, especially in places like Cairo, Sinai, the Oases, Qena and Aswan.

Egypt Memory online shop (www.egyptmemory.com) has finished the first phase of adding the BA publications and the number of visitors has increased by 30% compared to last year.
The BA has developed a growing interest in Access to Knowledge related issues. Our Center for Special Studies and Programs (CSSP) and Legal Department co-organized the IPR and Development Workshop as an introduction to intellectual property laws, its history and its impact on socioeconomic development.

The A2K Toolkit II in both English and Arabic were released. Efforts to promote Access to Knowledge continue with relevant material being prepared and translated.

The ICT Sector conducted numerous impactful activities during the reported period. A new version of the Multimedia Content Delivery Framework was released in November 2009, enhancing the user’s experience by providing personalized services such as bookmarks, saved searches and MS Office applications, and morphological search facilities. A new storage solution was also deployed to accommodate the need for large capacity storage volumes using an open source solution on affordable commodity hardware, where reliability is sustained.

An automated Online Archiving System for the internal digital assets of the Bibliotheca Alexandrina has been established to accommodate the ever-expanding digital content of the Library. Currently, the System receives around 50 GB/day from several systems including the BA’s Visual Reference Library, Digital Assets Factory and others.

Upon the request of HE Dr. Youssef B. Ghaly, the Egyptian Minister of Finance, the BA has started on the digital documentation of the Archives of the Egyptian Ministry of Finance (Dar Al Mahfuzat al-Umumiya), the BA-affiliated International School for Information Science (ISIS) team has developed the internal design of the archive as well as the workflow and the back-end application for data entry, and is ready for deployment.

ISIS has also established the Visual Reference Library (VRL); a repository of a variety of digital visual material in different formats including videos, images, audios and text. The material is available on the repository in a light version to allow easy browsing.

On the other hand, our Manuscript Center and Museum embarked upon an ambitious project that aimed at acquiring the largest possible microfilmed and digital copies of assorted manuscript collections worldwide. The current year has witnessed the addition of 9030 manuscripts to total 54,315 manuscripts. The project intends to fulfill three goals, namely, to provide scientific research resources in various fields of heritage; to establish academic cooperation with parallel centers all over the world; and to disseminate scientific heritage, in particular the works pertaining to the history of science, and the contributions of the Arab-Islamic civilization to the human intellectual.

The MANUMED Project contributes to the preservation of the diversity of the written and intangible heritage in the Mediterranean. Two conferences were organized in 2009 within the framework of the project. The Manuscript Center also contributed to the project’s virtual library, adding so far 50 manuscripts of its collection.

The Manuscript Center Restoration Laboratory has established itself as one of the leading state-of-the-art restoration labs in the region. For more than two years now, the Laboratory has provided consultation and training services to many institutions. This past year, the Lab restored 216 rare books and 99 rare research papers and monographs from the collection of Dar al-Athar al-Islamiyya in Kuwait in addition to 75 rare books from the Center’s collections.

The Planetarium Science Center (PSC) has initiated a variety of onsite, on location and outreach science communication activities to foster the values of science, to create a new generation of innovative thinkers, and to yield a new generation of science-literate problem-solvers.

In 2009, PSC collaborated with the Italian Embassy in Cairo, in celebrating the Egypt-Italy Science Year (EISY 2009) through a variety of activities and organized a year-long series of activities as part of the UN-declared International Year of Astronomy (IYA 2009): “Astronomy Olympiad” competition; “Universe Awareness” program; “100 Hours of Astronomy” program; “Astro-Camp”; “International Day of Astronomy” festivity; the 17th Annual Meeting of the European Society for Astronomy in Culture (SEAC’2009); “Arab Astronomers” exhibition and series of activities; “She is an Astronomer” girls camp; in addition to workshops, lectures and videoconferences. The Center also organized numerous activities to enhance its role in knowledge-sharing.

Between July 2009 and June 2010, the Dialogue Forum organized over 20 forums covering different topics on arts, the evolution theory, political sciences, the Arabization of sciences, national culture, the network of culture, and scientific methods of thinking.

The Special Advisors Program organized a series of soft skills sessions, targeting university students to improve their skills and build their capacity in communication, emotional intelligence, leadership, strategic planning, and negotiation. Workshops on recycling, sketching youth future, and Microsoft Office were also held.

The year 2009/2010 witnessed a major change in our Sales Unit, starting from the expansion and refurbishment of the Entrance Bookshop, to the opening of a new bookshop at the Planetarium Science Center. As a result of the BA Bookshop expansion, the total sales from 1 July 2009 to 13 June 2010 amounted to about EGP 3,850,000 compared to EGP 2,598,750 in 2008/2009.

Participation in national and international book fairs was another key factor affecting sales increase. Besides the International Alexandrina Book Fair, the BA took part in a number of book fairs within Egypt and abroad, such as the Alexandria Citadel Book Fair, Egypt (August 2009), the Damascus Book Fair, Syria (August 2009), Kuwait Book Fair (October 2009), Sharjah Book Fair, UAE (November 2009), Beirut Book Fair, Lebanon (December 2009), Doha Book Fair, Qatar (January 2010), Cairo Book Fair, Egypt (January 2010), Muscat Book Fair, Oman (February 2010), Abu Dhabi Book Fair, UAE (March 2010), and the Medina Book Fair, KSA (June 2010).

The Engineering Department set out towards the expansion of its projects, with the ultimate goals of zero accidents, maximum reliability and less than 5% emergency work, a budget compliance of more than 98%, and zero noncompliance with regards to client satisfaction.

The Planning Team attended a number of training courses to increase efficiency and reliability, and awareness of all aspects of maintenance.
A preventative maintenance strategy has been developed, to avoid the occurrence of equipment failure or breakdowns. All the necessary data and information are made available through the Computerized Maintenance Management System (CMMS) to ensure optimum performance and minimal costs. The Firefighting System, Main Server Room Power Source, Thermal Load, and Access Control and CCTV System were upgraded for optimum performance.

The Department has successfully completed a number of projects within the BA Complex, namely the Exhibition Passage, ALEXploratorium Renovation, ALEXploratorium Gift Shop, Plaza Cafeterias, Talking Book, Audio-Visual Equipment and Conference Services, Dialogue Form – Apartments (Ibn Shoga’a Street), Culturama and the Map Library. Another number of projects are currently in process, namely: the Bookshop on Port Said Street and FM Studio.

In Alexandria, works in the Antoniadis Gardens were completed, and the Borg Al-Arab Warehouses and Antoniadis Palace renovation are underway. Two projects in Cairo were completed: the first phase of Dar Al Mahfuzat and the BA Booth at the Cairo International Book Fair. The Suzanne Mubarak Family Park Educational Science Center, the Conference Center in the 6th of October City, the Sennari House and the second phase of Dar Al Mahfuzat are underway.

The Internal Security Department continues to conduct all BA security operations through a well-studied plan and the use of state-of-the-art equipment. Internal security personnel are constantly trained on civil defense, firefighting, first aid, detection and handling of explosives, and securing people and documents.

The Department provides 24/7 internal and external monitoring of the BA building via 250 cameras, and records all daily events using the latest technology. A study of the entire building was conducted, and a comprehensive map prepared showing all entrances and exits and determining escape routes, and all BA employees have been trained on the emergency evacuation plan.

The Department has been coordinating with the BA Engineering Department to ensure smooth operation. Maintenance was conducted on the book security gates, X-ray machines, hand-held scanners, walk-through gates, survey meters, under-vehicle reflecting mirrors, and wireless communication devices. In addition, the Firefighting System has been upgraded.

Based on a solid foundation of international cooperation, the External Relations Sector continues to focus on widening and enriching the network of supporters around the globe, and developing a global network of cooperation through agreements, partnerships, joint projects.

Numerous conferences, lectures, exhibitions and round table discussions were organized; such as “The EuroMed Summit of Economic and Social Councils and Similar Institutions”, in cooperation with the EU; “The Battle of El Alamein and its Role in the Resolution of the Second World War”, presented by the Russian Association of Veterans; “Facing the Changes in the Current World Economic Circumstances and Exploring New Industries and New Jobs - UK Egypt” presented by Sir Andrew Cahn; “Mongolian Culture and History” by Former President of Mongolia HE Mr. Enkhbayar Nambar; and the “Danish Expedition to the Orient, 1761–1767”.

The Sector attended to signing several Memorandums of Understanding with international entities; such as the Kenya National Library, the National Library of Kyrgyz Republic, Prince Mohammad Bin Fahd University (Saudi Arabia), Tanzania Library Services Board, and the United Nations Children’s Fund (UNICEF) in Egypt.
Through the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Sector also attended to the signature of the Executive Program on Cultural Cooperation between the Egyptian Government and the Governments of Mauritius, Romania, Italy, the Kingdom of Thailand and Vietnam.

The Public Relations Department is responsible for setting a two-way flow of information and understanding between the Bibliotheca Alexandrina and the community; nationally, regionally and internationally. The thematic involvement revolves mainly around issues pertaining to networks and partnerships, and dialogue and understanding between people.

A contact database, which simplifies the process of establishing rapid contact and provides general information to ensure either participation or audience attendance in BA events, is maintained.

The other main service provided by the Department is supporting all the events held at the BA, from VIP visits, conferences, and exhibitions, to donation ceremonies.

The BA Friends Associations work actively to raise funds for the BA, offer in-kind donations; mainly in the form of books, provide grants to support training for BA staff, and coordinate lectures and events of interest. The BA Friends raise more than money, they raise awareness of the library’s value, raise their voices for peace, dialogue, and positive change, with hope for a better tomorrow.

Since the opening of the New Library of Alexandria, the International Friends have been holding an annual meeting at the Bibliotheca Alexandrina to assess performance, witness the BA's new achievements and discuss ways of promoting the Library in their respective countries. This year, the Friends held their 12th annual meeting in October 2009.

The Bibliotheca Alexandrina Friends Associations have become thirty-three, after adding the Associations of Minnesota and Monaco. The only two Arab associations are the Egyptian Association and the Moroccan Association. There are seven associations in the USA and Canada alone.

Throughout the reported year, the Visits and Halls Department continued focusing and developing its marketing efforts on promoting the Library to schools, travel agencies, associations and universities to increase the number of visitors, by issuing information material, holding presentations and so on. The marketing endeavors have resulted in 63,660 visitors.

To accommodate the increasing number of French-speaking visitors annually received by the BA, the Visits Department established the French Tours Unit. In that respect, volunteers have been playing an important role in offering the best service to the increasing number of visitors coming to the Library.
Due to the continuous success of the Culturama show, the Culturama Hall was renovated. During the reported period, the Culturama show received 39,630 Egyptian and non-Egyptian visitors.

In an effort to educate children, the Department redesigned the BA multimedia show to present the history of the ancient Library of Alexandria and the building of the New Library in a simplified manner using animation and cartoons for children ages 4–9.

To further accommodate the needs of children below 6, the Daycare facility was completely renovated. Educational articles on raising children are also made available to parents. During the reporting period, the BA Daycare facility received 4,930 visitors.

To encourage more visitors to join our free guided tours and shows, a monthly Cultural Competition has been organized, addressing individual visitors and focusing on the data presented in the guided tours, general information about Alexandria and the Culturama show. To promote cultural awareness among schoolchildren, a brainstorming contest “Know Your Library” was also organized. During the reported period, 97,470 school students visited the BA, of whom 4,010 attended the children presentations.

The Department also received a number of prominent figures including former Heads of States, prime ministers, ministers, ambassadors, as well as representatives of reputable academic, religious and cultural institutions from all around the globe.

Our Media Department handles communications between the BA and the mass-media through its Press Center and Archiving Unit, by maintaining and developing an up-to-date contact with local, Arab and international newspapers, television stations, radio stations, magazines and alternative media. The Unit also maintains the Media Archive, monitors and documents all materials published about the BA in the media as well as on the Internet. Throughout the reporting period, there were a total of 3,750 articles published in different newspapers on the BA.

Four issues of the Arabic media newsletter were published, each issue is dedicated to a major current event, such as the generous French book donation in 2010, and the launching of the BA Map Library.

Since 2002, the Alexandrina Book Fair is organized annually by the Department highlighting different themes. This year, 94 publishing houses from 13 countries participated in the Book Fair, with France and Mauritania being the guests of honor.

Forty-five events were organized, including cultural activities, ceremonies and book signing sessions involving well known writers and critics. The BA activities are broadcasted on the national radio station on a weekly basis.

During this past year, 700 press releases, including news articles and book reviews, were issued. Four issues of the BA Quarterly English Newsletter, were also released. The BA Monthly English E-newsletter is regularly launched; highlighting upcoming events, publications, services and other information of interest to BA patrons and visitors. Press kits for major conferences and events are prepared upon request.
